The Committee of Relief has held nine regular meetings during the year with an average attendance of seven members.

JUDSON BALDWIN, Secretary.

On motion made and seconded, it was

Voted: To accept the report and enter it upon the records.

To act upon the report of the Board of Government, as read by Vice-President Donald M. Blair, which was as follows:

At the February meeting of the Board of Government, the Board of Government elected Messrs. Frank L. Barnes, James R. Gibson and John M. Webster the Committee on Building and Messrs. Winslow Blanchard, Frank L. Nagle and Percy C. Bond were chosen members of the Finance Committee. The above-named members with President Burleigh and Vice-President Blair comprise the Committee on Building and the Finance Committee.

In consequence of an increase of the taxation on the property of the Association, a Committee was appointed to confer with our corporation counsel and to take necessary steps for the protection of our interests.

Administration Office

The President appointed Messrs. Webster and McKenzie on this Committee. The result was that a rebate of $501.41 was made on the taxes for 1923, and 1922 taxes, which were also contested, are held in abeyance.

At the April meeting, the Board of Government was notified of the death of Winslow Blanchard. He died on April 7, 1923, at the age of fifty-seven years. He served on the Board of Government and Finance Committee in 1922, 1923. Mr. Walter W. Morrison was appointed on the Board of Government and Mr. D. Fletcher Barber was elected on the Finance Committee to fill Mr. Blanchard's unexpired terms.

At June meeting, a Committee was appointed, which consisted of Messrs. Blair, Bond and Barber, who should be known as the Committee of Education. The Board of Government appropriated three thousand dollars for scholarships at the Wentworth Institute. This Committee is supposed to keep in touch with such schools or institutes as may receive scholarships from our Association and also as far as possible keep in touch with the scholars themselves receiving the benefits of the scholarships. Twenty-nine young men at the Wentworth Institute, four men at the New Bedford, Fall River and Lowell Textile Schools, and two boys at the Hyde Park High School are receiving scholarship benefits. The Committee on Education recommended an appropriation of one thousand dollars to enable the Commission on Apprenticeships for the Building Industry to carry out the aims of the Commission.

On account of inquiries into the activities of our Association along the lines for which it was incorporated, made by the office of the Tax Commissioner and the Commissioner on Corporations and that the matter might be more fully understood by the Board of Government, the Corporation Counsel came before the Board of Government and laid before it the conditions as they now exist. He impressed upon the Board the necessity of increasing the activities of the Association along the lines for which it was incorporated. That is, to spend more of its income for charitable and educational interests or it would pass into the class of commercial associations, thereby subjecting the Association to taxation by the State and Federal authorities. As a result, a Committee of three was appointed by the President to confer with our Counsel for the purpose of formulating a policy for the guidance of the Association. The President appointed on this Committee Messrs. Blair, Nagle and Morrison. The President ex officio was also added to this Committee.

Fred Warren Clark was appointed by the Board of Government a Trustee of the Charity Fund to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. Arthur Jacobs.

An appraisal of the building of the Association has been made by Mr. Ira G. Hersey, who has reported the net valuation as $526,107.33. The amount of insurance on the building has been increased $160,000, making the present insurance on the building $420,000, which will cover the eighty per cent clause required in all the fire insurance policies issued on the building.

The Board of Government has acted favorably upon thirteen applications for Membership and reported the same to the Association.

To act upon the report of the Committee on Finance, read by Vice-President Donald M. Blair. The report was as follows:

The Finance Committee has held fourteen meetings. The Committee has examined and approved five hundred and fifty-nine bills of account against the Association and they have been submitted to the Board of Government for its approval.

The Committee recommends that an appropriation of eighty thousand dollars be made to meet the current expenses of the Association for the coming year.

To the President and Directors of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

I hereby certify that the books and accounts of the Association have been examined for the year 1923 and that they have been found to be correct and that the report of the Treasurer shows its affairs to be in full accord with the books of the Association.

(Signed) WILLIAM FRANKLIN HALL, C. P. A.,
Accountant and Auditor.

To act upon the report of the Committee on Building read by Vice-President Blair. The report was as follows:

The activities of the Building Committee have been limited this year. Nothing has been done outside of the necessary repairs.

The Power and Electric Plant is in good condition and by referring to the Treasurer's report, it will be seen that the Electric Plant has earned a very substantial sum during the year in addition to supplying the light and heat for our own purposes.

CHARLES B. BURLEIGH, Chairman,
DONALD M. BLAIR,
FRANK L. BARNES,
JAMES R. GIBSON,
JOHN M. WEBSTER,
Committee on Building.

On motion made and seconded, it was Voted: To accept the reports and enter it upon the records.

To act upon the report of the Committee of Relief. Mr. Frederick H. Briggs, Chairman of that Committee, presented the following report

BOSTON, MASS., January 1, 1924.

To the President and Members of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

GENTLEMEN: During the last year your Committee has expended $8,222.35 for the charity work of your Association. Our membership is growing old in years as is also the age of our Association and the help given by you through this Committee extends not only to the unfortunate and indigent of our members but also to their widows and children.

If there are any among our membership who may know of either a widow or unmarried child of a member who is in indigent or destitute circumstances the Committee would be glad if you would see that an application in proper form is presented and you may rest assured that if the case is worthy, all needed and lawful assistance will be rendered.

It is a grand work which the Association is doing and the Committee is only too glad to extend it and is most anxious that no old member or widow or unmarried child of a member should ever come to want for the necessities of life so long as he or she may live.

The personnel of the Committee is of so high a quality that it precludes the possibility of waste but assures the beneficiary of every necessity of life.

A well regulated charity is supposed to need as much for the administration of the funds as it pays out to the recipient. In fact in many charities the amount for administration will average sixty per cent or more of the funds handled.

It is an everlasting monument to the quality of men you have elected to handle your funds that instead of it costing from fifty per cent to sixty per cent to administer, it has actually cost for the year just ended only one-half of one per cent to do this necessary part of the work. No member of this Committee receives one cent in salary and the work usually given to paid assistants is done by the members themselves.

On account of the increasing age of your beneficiaries the amount given each has been increased on an average about ten per cent this year and the outlook for the coming year is such that an increase in certain cases will be necessary. If death does not deprive us of some of our much loved needy friends it will be necessary to use more money the coming year to properly provide for those already on the lists, to say nothing of such as may be added.

In closing, the Chairman wishes to pay a tribute of appreciation to his associates on the Committee for their untiring and efficient work. Any association is fortunate in having such men ready and willing to devote their time to intelligently dealing with the problems which present themselves in this work.

The Committee recommends that an appropriation of five thousand dollars be made for the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. BRIGGS, Chairman,

On motion made and seconded, it was

Voted: To accept the report and enter it upon the records.

To act upon the report of the Trustees of the Charity Fund, who are also Trustees of a special fund known as the Charles R. McLean Fund.

The report was read by Frank W. Whitcher, Clerk of the Trustees of the Charity Fund, and was as follows:

To the Members of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

GENTLEMEN: We beg to report the following as the result of the work of our Board for the year ending December 31, 1923.

Boston, Mass., January 16, 1924.

Upon motion made and seconded, it was

Voted: To accept the report and enter it upon the records.

At the October meeting of the Association, the members learned of the death of J. Arthur Jacobs and on motion made and seconded it was Voted: To appoint a Committee of three to prepare resolutions. As no Committee was named, it seemed appropriate that those resolutions should be presented to the Association by his associates on the Trusteeship of the Charity Fund with which he had been connected for so many years. Mr. Frank W. Whitcher for the Trustees of this fund presented the following:

Resolution Upon the Death of Mr. J. Arthur Jacobs
Member of Board of Trustees of Charity Fund of the
Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association

Whereas: It is with profound sorrow and regret that we record the death on October 16 last, of our friend and Associate, Mr. J. Arthur Jacobs, at the age of seventy-five, who for many years was an active worker in this Association, having joined at the age of twenty-six on January 26, 1874, as a Life Member. He served upon the Committee of Relief during the years 1887, 1888 and 1889, and upon the Trade School Committee for two years, 1914 and 1915, on the Board of Government three years, 1914, 1915 and 1916, upon the Finance Committee for the year 1916, and as a Trustee of the Charity Fund for twenty-three years, beginning in 1900 and closing at the time of his death; always faithful and conscientious in whatever work he undertook, and during all of these years he gave unsparingly of his time and services for the good of this Association, therefore be it

Resolved: That in his death this Association and the community at large have suffered the loss of one who will be greatly missed, a man of the highest integrity, of sterling character and worth; a generous, upright and loyal citizen and whose genial kindly nature endeared him to all who knew him. And further be it

Resolved: That the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association extend to the members of his family, its most earnest sympathy in their bereavement and that this Resolution be spread upon its records and a copy of it sent to his family.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) IRA G. HERSEY,
FRANK W. WHITCHER,
F. WARREN CLARK,
Trustees of the Charity Fund.

Boston, Mass.

These Resolutions were by vote accepted.

The address of the President, Charles B. Burleigh, was as follows:

President's Address

The Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association having today completed the one hundred and twenty-ninth year of its history, it is now incumbent on your President to give you an account of his stewardship during the past year.

Deeply sensible of the high honor you conferred upon me one year ago, it has been my earnest desire to measure up to the standard of your expectations, so that when, at the end of my term in office, I turn over to my successor the emblem of authority which you so graciously confided to my care, to deserve the encomium at your hands of "Well Done."

As, no doubt, has been the experience of the distinguished presidents who have preceded me, I entered upon my duties with high hopes and great expectations of doing something worth while for the Association and its members in particular and the community in general.

Whether I have failed to grasp my opportunities or the opportunities have not presented themselves to be grasped, I cannot say; this I do know, however, that I do not look upon this report as a record of brilliant achievement, but rather as a simple chronicle of events covering such matters of more or less importance that have claimed the attention of your President during the past year.

For the measure of success that has been mine I gratefully acknowledge the ever-ready counsel and cheerful assistance of my co-workers and predecessors in office whom I have always found as ready to give as I was to receive of their wisdom and experience.

I wish to embrace this opportunity to express my deep appreciation to each individual member of the Board of Government as well as to the members of both the Finance and Building Committees for their cheerful and punctual attendance at the meetings as evidenced by the Secretary's report, and while I am deeply grateful, the Association is to be congratulated in having such an efficient corps of officials who often at great sacrifice to themselves are willing and able to contribute so much of their time and ability to the interests of the Association without the hope of fee or reward other than the satisfaction to be derived from the realization that they are permitted to further your interests.

Necrology

During the past year not even our official family have escaped the scythe of the Grim Reaper. Twenty-one of our members have joined the Great Caravan, among whom were Winslow Blanchard, an efficient member of our Board of Government and member of the Finance Committee; also J. Arthur Jacobs, for twenty-three years a trustee of our Charity Fund. We shall miss their advice and counsel. Suitable resolutions have been prepared and copies will appear in the printed transactions.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW, 1924, GRAND HALL

"From the dust of the weary highway,
From the smart of the sorrows road
Into the royal presence
They are bidden as guests of God.
The veil from their eyes is taken,
Sweet mysteries they are shown,
Their doubts and fears are over,
For they know as they are known."

Business

The past year has been one of the busiest which our building has ever experienced, the quarters having been more frequently rented and for longer periods than during any previous year. The lease with the Blue Triangle has been renewed and that part of the basement previously occupied by our trade school and later by the Chickering Piano Company has been rented for storage purposes.

These results should be attributed largely to the earnest efforts and untiring zeal in behalf of the Association of our efficient Superintendent, Mr. F. W. Easterbrook, and largely made possible by my predecessor in office, our honored and respected ex-President, Daniel B. Badger, who during his administration, appreciating the extent to which the business of the Association had grown, and the immense amount of detail incident thereto, appointed an assistant to Mr. Easterbrook and immediately on my assumption of office, he was divorced from all detail work in connection with the upkeep and conduct of the building and help, thus enabling him to devote his entire time and thought to the business of the Association.

All details with regard to upkeep and conduct of the building and employees being delegated to the Assistant Superintendent, and the results obtained have demonstrated the wisdom of this arrangement both as regards the business of the Association and Mr. Easterbrook's physical and mental condition. I might say in passing that Mr. Easterbrook has served the Association faithfully for more than twenty years, which service has extended over all hours of both day and night.

During the period of his superintendency, the business of the Association has doubled and trebled until the innumerable details incident thereto have become more than any one man should be called on to look after, expecially one who has and is giving the best years of his life to our service.

I am free to say that his release from these details was not without some protest on his part, as he had become so accustomed to carrying the whole load that he took pleasure in it, but I felt that his interests as well as those of the Association demanded it, and the results obtained confirm my judgment.

Building

While no radical changes have been made in the building, several minor changes have been effected with a view to the safety and better accommodation of our tenants, the convenience of our employees, and the better conduct of our business.

Uniforms have been provided for our employees that they may properly represent the Association when conditions make it desirable.

A room previously unoccupied, has been provided and furnished on the second floor with cots and lockers where our employees can leave their clothing under lock and key while at work and where they can sleep comfortably when their work is of such a nature as makes it inconvenient for them to reach their homes.

Another similar room has been fitted and furnished for the use of the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent for use under similar conditions.

With a view to as far as possible eliminating the noise and bustle incident to the conduct of the building operations from the Treasurer's office, the building administration activities were transferred to the janitor's office in Grand Hall from which location the operative work could be more conveniently handled.

This office was none too large for the janitor's use and it has been enlarged to accommodate the Assistant Superintendent. Here has been installed a time clock and arrangements made for all employees to enter and leave the building by an entrance convenient thereto, registering arrival and departure, thus giving us an absolute check on our pay roll.

A stock room has been fitted up in the basement where all supplies for the building are now kept, which enables us to keep a strict account of our building supplies and their distribution and use.

An emergency electric circuit is at the present time being installed, making possible the use of electricity in dark portions of the building at such times as our own plant is inoperative and providing against difficulty in the event of any accident to the plant while the building is occupied.

All of the foregoing changes and additions have been or are being made by our own employees during slack times without interference with their regular work or the necessity for employing anyone from the outside.

The physical condition of the property is first-class in every respect, with the exception perhaps of the elevator, which we have delayed attending to, anticipating the possibility of the desirability of installing a larger one.

There is at the present time quite a diversity of locks throughout the building and arrangements have been entered into which when completed will unify all locks so that in addition to individual keys they will be sub-mastered in groups and two master keys will control the entire building instead of requiring some one hundred and forty-eight keys as at present.

There are numerous other minor changes and improvements under consideration by your Building Committee, the principal of which is the desirability of added checking facilities for Grand Hall.

Grand Hall, as you know, accommodates five thousand people and our check room for this hall will only accommodate some eight hundred garments and it will be at once seen that added checking facilities will pay a handsome interest on the investment if they can be provided without encroaching on other rentable space.

Activities

My predecessors have stressed the desirability of increasing our membership and while I am heartily in sympathy with them, I do not feel the strength of this or any other Association is nearly as dependent on the number as on the quality of its membership, nor do I want to see our membership increased on the basis of what we can do for them but rather on the basis of what they can do for the Association and for the community.

Our charter of 1806 authorized the appropriation of "funds for charitable uses," specifying that the Association "shall not have power to make by-laws and regulations for any other purposes whatsoever."

The act of 1826, extending the charter, granted the right to "establish schools and libraries for the use of apprentices and the improvement of the Arts." That these specifications have been religiously complied with is evidenced by the fact that although the Association is a corporation, not one dollar's worth of stock has ever been issued, a single dividend declared, a single dollar expended beyond the upkeep of our property except for charitable or educational purposes. Even the executive and administrative affairs of the Association have always been conducted without other expense than a very nominal salary paid the Secretary-Treasurer.

I call these conditions to your mind as I have been asked what the Association does with all its money and very likely you may have been asked the same question and you will be stating the facts when you reply to similar inquiries to the effect that no member of the Association has ever received any financial benefit from the Association unless his circumstances were such that otherwise he would have been a burden on his friends or the community, to obviate the possibility of which the Association was primarily formed.

The preamble to our By-laws specifies that the objects of our Association are in "promoting mutual good offices and fellowship; in assisting the necessitous, encouraging the ingenious and in rewarding fidelity."

Having the foregoing in mind, it is evident that our objects are three-fold, namely — FELLOWSHIP, CHARITY and EDUCATION.

The first of these I regret to say has not been given nearly the amount of attention that I have endeavored to give to it during the past year and hope will be accorded to it in the future. We are not so large in numbers as should make it at all difficult for every member to be intimately acquainted with every other member, and with this in view I want to impress upon you the desirability of never passing a member without speaking to him and to prevent the possibility of embarrassing him, give him your full name and it shall be his duty to respond by giving you his full name. By this means we shall soon get to know one another, which should be our first duty to the Association. Remembering that a man is rich in his friends and that no man is poor who has them.

Charity

This is the object of our Association to which has been given the most attention, and the thanks of the Association are certainly due Mr. Frederick H. Briggs and through him the members of his committee for the efficient and painstaking work they have done, but their work applies more specifically to the financial charities of the Association.

There are many charities which are non-financial which are oftentimes of far more value and more often neglected.

You are all familiar with the fact that the medical fraternity are giving as much, if not more attention to the study of preventative than to curative measures in the treatment of bodily ailments, and by this means are enabled to prevent much anguish and suffering.

Why should not we adopt similar methods? Can you imagine any medicine more disagreeable to accept than financial charity, which seldom cures the ailment, and if it does, leaves a scar? Webster says that charity, besides referring to the giving of alms, consists in the giving of sympathy, advice and encouragement, of love and good will, all of which are pleasanter to receive and oftentimes, if tendered at the proper time, obviate the necessity for financial charity and injury to the recipient's self-respect.

I hope as our acquaintance each with the other broadens we shall feel freer to talk over our troubles and offer each other the opportunity for an interchange of charity and not confine it wholly to our charity committee.

There is a saying to the effect that charity begins at home and I feel that we may well give more consideration to the comfort and welfare of our employees, many of whom have faithfully served the Association over a long term of years, thereby demonstrating to them and through them to the public that our charitable intent is not wholly confined to our members.

It is far more satisfactory to have employees work with you than for you, for in the former case your interests are theirs and they realize it, and in the latter case the clock and the pay envelope are their only interests.

A kind word now and then, or a word of encouragement or some small favor costing little, will often pay good interest on the investment and should be a part of our charity.

James W. Foley's poem best illustrates everyday charities and may well be applied to all with whom we are brought in contact.

"Did you give him a lift? He's a brother of man
And bearing all the burden he can.
Did you give him a smile? He was downcast and blue
And the smile would have helped him to battle it through.
Did you give him a hand? He was slipping down hill,
And the world, so I fancied, was using him ill.
Did you give him a word? Did you show him the road,
Or did you just let him go on with his load?
Did you try to find out what he needed from you,
Or did you just leave him to battle it through?"

Publicity

I recall a statement which my predecessor, Mr. Badger, made in his address to you to the effect that he "was credited with being the most extravagant President which the Association had ever had."

Webster defines extravagance as waste, and I am prepared to state that, while Mr. Badger perhaps expended a larger amount of money than many of his predecessors, no President in my opinion ever expended the funds of this Association more judiciously.

During almost the entire existence of the Association, it has been necessary for it to practice the strictest economy, for which reason it has been necessary that members should be selected to conduct its affairs whose principal capabilities corresponded with these necessary conditions, and no one could criticize either the Association or its officials, and they certainly rendered yeoman service.

One hundred and twenty-five years or more of comparatively self-centered existence, paying little or no attention to public sentiment or the opinions of others, has, I find, created a more or less general opinion among the comparatively few outside our membership who know of us at all, which, to say the least, is not in all cases particularly flattering to the Association.

I am of the opinion that we have been a little too self-centered for our own good, paying too little attention to the Biblical admonition that we should let our light so shine before men that they might see our good work. As an indication of the impression that is more or less prevalent among the general public, permit me to quote from a letter recently received from a man influential in business circles in New England in which he says, "The Managers of your Association have a very thrifty streak in their makeup."

On several occasions I have had the opportunity to refute statements, both in public and in private, derogatory to our policies, methods and our building, but no one person can have the opportunity to disabuse the minds of all who have an impression.

Every employee of any organization will unconsciously reflect the attitude of the executive who predominates its activities, for which reason I have endeavored to emulate my predecessor and as far as possible adopt as liberal a policy as our conditions will permit with our employees, on the basis that each has a circle of friends and acquaintances to whom would be transmitted his sentiments with regard to his employers.

I have myself, and enjoined upon them to adopt this same liberal and courteous policy toward our clients and the public, and am beginning to hear some favorable comments and hope that you are, and I want to solicit your co-operation in this connection to the extent of urging upon you never to allow a statement derogatory to the Association or building, or our treatment of the public, our clients or our employees to go unchallenged, for they are unwarranted and will be so long as my hand is on the steering wheel.

Further than this, it should be the duty of every member to lose no opportunity to impress on the public that beyond the charitable and educational work which we do for the benefit of the community this property of ours, maintained and operated without adequate interest on the investment, is of immense benefit not only to the city of Boston but to the whole of New England, for without it there would be no facilities for many entertaining and educational exhibitions in our community, or provisions for conventions and exhibitions under one roof, which make possible the holding of conventions in our city at great benefit to our hotels, transportation systems, merchants, and the citizens of New England. Further than this many conventions are brought to Boston by the facilities which we provide that would go elsewhere if it were not for Mechanics Building which they tell me is known the world over as one of if not the most flexible exhibition buildings in existence.

Education

This, the third object of our Association has, since the abolishing of our trade school, been principally confined to the appropriation of the monies formerly devoted to this purpose to the purchase of scholarships in the Wentworth Institute and the application of the McLean fund for the purchase of scholarships in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, thereby assisting in a practical way deserving young men who otherwise would be unable to procure an education.

Appreciating the fact that our conditions were such that we might now begin to enlarge the scope of our educational activities, there has this year been appointed a committee on education to act under the direction of the Board of Governors, and this committee has during the past year in addition to the appropriation for scholarships at the Wentworth Institute and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology provided scholarships in the Lowell Textile School, the New Bedford Textile School and the Bradford Durfee Textile School in Fall River.

We have also appropriated one thousand dollars to the Commission on Apprenticeship for the building industry which is composed of three representatives appointed each from the Carpenters and Bricklayers Crafts. On this Commission are representatives of the employers, Labor and the Building Congress. The object being to provide definite instruction for apprentices over a definite period under definite conditions, and while it is yet in a more or less embryotic stage, your Board felt that it was a step in the right direction and should be stimulated and encouraged, and if it met with the success that is anticipated, its further support would be worthy of their most careful consideration. In addition to the foregoing we have rendered financial assistance to worthy students in our public schools who would otherwise have been unable to continue their education. It might be of interest to those who are unfamiliar with the accomplishments of the Association to note that the facilities contributed by our Association for the education of poor boys are not confined to any one industry nor to our membership, but are distributed to those having no connection with our membership even in the remotest degree, thus benefiting the community at large.

I want to call your attention to one feature of our membership which to me is extremely interesting and that is that we have three members whose connection with the Association extends over a period of fifty years or more, as follows:

L. Merrill who joined in 1870
William H. Pearson who joined in 1870
Thomas Lutted who joined in 1871 and two more members who have retained their membership very nearly as long, namely, William H. Sayward who joined in 1875, and Thomas A. Upham who joined in 1877. I cannot refrain from commenting on the interest shown in the Association by Mr. Thomas A. Upham who, even though ninety-three years of age, is the most consistent attendant at all the meetings of the Association, and this prompts me to call to your attention the fact that a member's personality is or should be of more value to any organization than his money, and if every member of our Association took the same interest in the Association that is evidenced by Mr. Upham, we would have the livest organization in the Commonwealth.

Trustees of the Fund

There is one committee whose work has been given but little thought and whose duties are becoming more and more arduous and exacting, and that is the Trustees of the Charity Fund.

This fund now amounts to something over one quarter of a million dollars and the duties imposed and responsibilities exacted in properly safeguarding and caring for it are extremely arduous and impose an almost unwarranted obligation upon its members, which is a subject to which I feel that your new Board of Government should give the most serious consideration.

If, in the foregoing, you feel that I have been unduly critical, you must credit it to excess of solicitation in your behalf and the feeling that he is not always your best friend who pats you on the back and tells you what a fine fellow you are, but rather he who calls to your notice your shortcomings, thereby offering you the opportunity for bettering yourself by at least seriously considering if not correcting them.

The report was favorably received and acknowledged by a complimentary vote.

The President reported the following funeral benefits not called for which have been paid to the Trustees of the Charity Fund in the name of the deceased member:

Estate John C. Clapp
Jerome C. Hosmer
Harrison M. Hutchins
Isaac F. Woodbury

To act upon the report of the Committee on Nominations.

The report of the Committee was sent in the call for the annual meeting of the Association to all its members and was as follows:

Boston, December 12, 1923.

and three ballots blanks.

The following letter from his Excellency Channing H. Cox has been received:

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Executive Department,
State House, Boston
8 November, 1923.

Judson Baldwin, Secretary,
Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association,
111 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts.

My Dear Mr. Baldwin:

It is a great satisfaction to have your letter of November 7, informing me of my election as an honorary member of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

I hope you may be willing to express to the members of the Association my appreciation of the honor thus conferred.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) CHANNING H. COX.

Five thousand ($5,000) dollars was appropriated for the use of the Committee of Relief for the ensuing year.

Eighty thousand ($80,000) dollars was appropriated to meet the expenses of the Association for the current year.

The vote passed by the Association (see Association records, page 82) was on the recommendation of the Board of Government (see Board of Government records, January 10, 1924, page 84) rescinded.

On motion of Past President Ira G. Hersey and seconded it was Voted: To appoint a Committee of five (to be appointed by the President) for the purpose of bringing the annals of the Association from the year 1900 down to the present date.

Mr. E. R. Gregory presented the Association with a certificate of honorary membership in this Association issued in 1852 to Marshall P. Wilder. The gift was gratefully acknowledged by the Association.

Mr. William Parker Stanley, representing the Commission on Apprenticeship for the Building Industry, was introduced to the members and spoke of the aims and purposes of the Commission. Mr. Parker solicited the earnest support of the members of our Association and also their beneficial aid.

NOTE: This Association has contributed one thousand dollars to aid this movement.

The following votes were passed:

Voted: That the services rendered by the members of the Board of Government and Committee of Relief who retire from office this year be gratefully acknowledged by the Association.

Voted: To express to the Master Builders' Association the gratitude of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association for continued use of the Directors' room at 77 Summer Street, Boston, for the meetings of the Committee of Relief.

Voted: To authorize the Secretary to print the annual report.

The meeting adjourned at 4.30 o'clock. A collation was served in Paul Revere Dining Hall.

JUDSON BALDWIN, Secretary.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW, 1924, EXHIBITION HALL

died September 12, 1922. He was born in Alton, Ill., December 21, 1859. He studied at Helmuth College, London, Ontario and graduated in 1876, also at Peekskill Military Academy, Peekskill, N. Y. from where he graduated in 1878.

In 1908, he married Lucy Pomeroy. From a hustler in the shipping room in a tobacco factory, he rose to manager of the works at St. Louis, Mo. He was a contractor and originator of sand blasting buildings. Mr. Waples became a member of the Association in 1917.

Isaac Blair

was born in Truro, Nova Scotia, Canada, February 12, 1840 and died November 12, 1922 in Summerland, British Columbia, Canada. In 1887 he entered into business in Boston as a contractor and building mover.

Mr. Blair joined the Association in 1887 as a life member and in 1905, 1906, 1907 served on the Board of Government and on the Committee of Relief in 1900, 1901, 1902.

While he was in Summerland, he was a Councillor for two years and a Reeve two years of the municipality.

He was a deacon of the Clarendon Street Baptist Church. His wife, a son and daughter survive him.

William E. Bartlett

a life member of this Association since 1870, died at his home, 389 West Broadway, South Boston, Mass., January 1, 1923. He was born at Charlestown, Mass., November 25, 1835. Owing to the death of his father, it became necessary for him at the age of eleven to start work between school hours. He obtained employment as an extra hand on Studley's omnibuses, which handled all the traffic between Charlestown and Boston. In 1852, he entered the employ of the Mattapan Works at South Boston and learned the machinist trade. Later he worked as a journeyman for such well-known firms as the Wilmarth Locomotive Works, John Souther Locomotive Works, R. Hoe & Company, manufacturers of printing presses, and other concerns of national reputation.

In 1868, Mr. Bartlett started business as a heating, lighting and plumbing engineer, and in 1896 added to his increasing business a real estate and insurance business.

He was a member of the Knights of Honor, Eastern Masonic Relief Association, Royal Arcanum and many other kindred societies. Founded and co-operated the Order of New England, a beneficiary society. In 1855, Mr. Bartlett became a member of the Pulaski Guards, which was Company C, of the First Regiment, Massachusetts Voluntary Infantry and served until 1859.

Mr. Bartlett married Clara Isabel Dunn in 1857. Three children were born; two of them died in infancy and one at the age of twenty-one.

Joseph B. Simpson

long identified with Boston business interests, and who died January 7, 1923 was born in Sullivan, Maine, in 1851. He was educated in that town and also at the Castine State Normal School. He came to Boston in 1870, and entered into business with his brothers, James and G. Fred Simpson, for laying concrete and bituminous pavements, under the name of Simpson Brothers. In 1885, he established a branch of the Simpson Brothers in Chicago, where he resided until 1897, when he returned to Boston to become vice-president of the Simpson Brothers Corporation. He succeeded his brother, G. Fred Simpson, to the presidency of Simpson Brothers Corporation in 1913.

He is survived by his wife and a son.

John Evans

a leading architectural sculptor in Boston, died at his home, 88 Linden Street, Allston, March 7, 1923, after a brief illness due to heart trouble.

Mr. Evans was born in Wales, July 17, 1850 and in his youth served his apprenticeship under the direction of his father, who was a noted architectural sculptor of that country. He came to America in his early twenties and first settled in Chicago, where he worked at his trade for about one year. Not long after coming to Boston he established himself in business on Huntington Avenue, near what is now known as Mechanics Building, and has occupied this location continuously from that time until his death.

He was considered the leading authority on gothic architectural ornament in this country. Many of the principal buildings in Boston erected during the last forty years bear the evidence of his skill. Among them are the Christian Science Church, the Boston Public Library, Trinity Church, the Art Museum, the Forsyth Dental School, the Boston Custom House, the John Hancock Life Insurance Company building and many others. His work is also to be found in the Rogers Church at Fairhaven, the Brookline Savings Bank, the West Boston Bridge, the Shaw Memorial, the church of St. John the Divine in New York, the Colonial and Wilbur Theatres and scores of other well-known edifices and memorials.

Mr. Evans was a member of Bethesda Lodge, F. A. M., of Brighton; Boston Commander, Knights Templar, the Boston Art Club, of which he was a member of the Board of Directors for a number of years. He joined the Association in 1884 and served on the Board of Government in 1897, 1898 and 1899. He attended Trinity Church, Newton Centre. He is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. John Hahn of Allston, Mrs. Ann Feldkamp of Danville, Ill., and Arthur A. Evans of Brookline, the latter having been associated with him in business.

Boston Herald, March 7, 1923.

George H. Graves

was born in West Fairlee, Vt., March 10, 1844. From 1865 to 1886, he was associated with the Walworth Manufacturing Company and in 1886 he became treasurer and director of the Company, which position he held until the time of his death, March 23, 1923.

He was an inventor of numerous blind, window, door and faucet devices and became superintendent of the American Automatic Faucet Company. For a great many years he was an exhibitor at the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association fairs and was awarded the prize medal in 1895.

Mr. O'Lally joined the Association in 1898 and became a life member in 1920. He was a student in Irish philology and folk-lore. He was considered an authority on Sanskrit and other ancient tongues.

His two sons, Mark and James O'Lally survive him.

Winslow Blanchard

at the time of his death, April 7, 1923, was a trustee on the Board of Government and a member of the Finance Committee.

He was born in Dorchester, Mass., September 24, 1865, the son of John W. and Harriet (Chambers) Blanchard. His early education was attained in the Harris School and Dorchester High School and in 1888 he received his Bachelor of Science degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

From 1888 to 1894, Mr. Blanchard was associated with the Boston Heating Company and the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission in Boston, and in 1894 entered the Blanchard Machine Company where he was president from 1914 until his death. He was active and prominent in the trade associations, a member of this Association since 1914, honorary member of the National Metal Trades Association, treasurer of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, first vice-president of the National Machine Tool Builders Association and a member of the Employers Association of Eastern Massachusetts, also a member of the Engineers Club of Boston, Machinery Club of New York, the Wellesley Country Club and the Waban Neighborhood Club.

His wife, Winona (Hattford) Blanchard, two brothers, Carlton S. Blanchard of Newton, Frederick C. Blanchard of Detroit and a sister, Mrs. Clift Rogers Clapp of West Newton, survive him.

Roswell R. Robinson

one of Malden's leading citizens, an outstanding figure in New England Methodism and for years the head of the firm of Robinson Brothers, which was purchased by the Potter Drug & Chemical Company, died at his home, 84 Linden Avenue at the age of eighty-eight years, on April 28, 1923.

Mr. Robinson was interested in Methodist movements. He contributed towards the chapel at Boston University Theological School, named in his honor, also the Robinson Methodist Church of Belmont Hill has been one of his benefactors, and was treasurer and trustee of the Centre Methodist Church for many years.

In 1884, he joined the Association as a life member. At that time he was in the soap business with his brother, the late Frederick A. Robinson at Bell Rock. When they sold their business Mr. Robinson retired.

Mr. Robinson leaves two daughters and two grandsons.

Leonard B. Nichols

died suddenly on May 6, 1923 at his home. He was born in West Newbury, Mass., the son of Daniel and Mary Jane (Pillsbury) Nichols. He obtained his education at the public schools of West Newbury and also at Groveland Academy.

Mr. Nichols was president and treasurer of the Chauncey Thomas & Company, Inc. This firm and its predecessor, Chauncey Thomas & Company, were carriage and automobile builders. It was located at 101 Chestnut Street, Boston.

He joined the Association in 1879 and was a member of the Committee of Relief in 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900.

Henry A. Root

died May 16, 1923, at his home, 106 Grover Avenue, Winthrop. He was born in the town of Ware, September 3, 1850. He acquired the mason trade under his father and in 1872 he and his brother came to Boston and became associated with Joseph W. Coburn, a veteran builder. In 1884, after the death of Mr. Coburn, they assumed the firm name of W. A. & H. A. Root, which is today identified with the building industry of Boston.

The following important buildings were constructed by Mr. Root during his fifty years of business life. In the early days Young's Hotel and the Court House at Worcester; during the eighties the old Children's Hospital on Huntington Avenue, and the town halls at Canton, Stoughton and Walpole, also Brewster Memorial Hall and Academy Building at Wolfeboro, N. H. In the nineties dormitories for Milton Academy and the Roxbury Court House.

In the last twenty years he built the dormitories at Radcliffe College, the Germanic Museum at Harvard College, Home for Aged Couples, New England Hospital for Women and Children, Forsyth Dental Infirmary, the entire Gillette plant, the New Studio Building and the Park Square Building. His firm has built also important private residences at the North Shore and elsewhere.

Mr. Root was a director of the New England Hospital. He was also vice-president of the Workingmen's Co-operative Bank where for the first twenty-five years he was chairman of the loan committee which brought him in close touch with the workingmen. He was a member of the Joseph Warren Commandery of Masons.

For the past thirty years he had been closely identified with the town of Winthrop, and he gave freely of his time in the furtherance of charitable work.

Mr. Root's father was William A. Root, and his mother, Cornelia (Hills) Root. In the early seventies he married Caroline Southworth of Boston. She died several years ago. His immediate survivors are two sisters, Miss Ellen Root and Miss Mary Root, both of Winthrop.

He joined the Association as a life member in 1880 and served on the Committee of Relief in 1891, 1892, 1893.

Francis C. Hersey

a life member of the Association since 1878 and a trustee in 1886, 1887, 1888, died at his home in Wellesley Hills, Mass., July 1, 1923 at the age of eighty years.

He was born in Jamaica Plain, Mass., March 24, 1843, and attended the Boston public schools.

In 1861 he entered the employ of Sampson & Tappin, then one of the largest ship owners in Boston. This firm sent him to South America to look after their sugar refining interests.

Upon his return in the latter part of 1865, he became a member of the firm of Hawes & Hersey, machinists, which now bears the name of Hersey Manufacturing Company. Mr. Hersey was treasurer of this Company at the time of his death.

Besides his wife, he leaves three sons, Francis C., George N. and Walter A. Hersey.

Herbert S. Pope

died suddenly July 23, 1923 at his home, 67 Marine Road, at the age of forty-nine years.

He was born in Philadelphia, Penn., in 1874, the son of John W. and Helen (Tull) Pope.

Mr. Pope joined the Association as a life member in 1915.

At the time of his death, he was president and general manager of Barnes-Pope Electric Company, Inc., electrical engineers and contractors, at 70 High Street.

His wife survives him.

George W. Parker

born in Boston in the year 1836, died at his home 191 Huntington Avenue, Boston, August 16, 1923 at the age of eighty-six years and seven months.

He was the last surviving member of C. S. Parker & Sons, who carried on a roofing business at 142 Charles Street.

Mr. Parker became a life member of the Association in 1871.

His widow, a daughter and son survive him.

Lew Cass Hill

president of the John L. Whiting–J. J. Adams Company, died on August 25, 1923. Mr. Hill was born March 18, 1852, at Fair Haven, Vt. He passed his boyhood in that town, at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. and at Hammonton, N. J., where he attended the public schools. He became an iron molder there and in this trade obtained employment in Boston, where he moved in 1873. On April 4 of the same year he married Clara Kendall of Hammonton.

In 1874, he was offered a position as bookkeeper in the concern of his wife's uncle, John L. Whiting. Thirteen years later, he became a member of the firm of John L. Whiting & Son, in 1893 secretary of the John L. Whiting & Son Company and in 1908 president and director of the John L. Whiting–J. J. Adams Company.

Mr. Hill was a patron of the fine arts in Boston, and was a member of the Boston Art Club and the Paint and Oil Club of New England, of which he had served as president and secretary. He was greatly interested in genealogical matters, and had published a book on the descendants of John Hill of Dorchester, of which he was one, who came to Plymouth in 1633. Mr. Hill was a member of the New Engand Historic-Genealogical Society, of which he had been treasurer and a council member, the Sons of the Revolution, the Sons of the American Revolution, the Society of Mayflower Descendants, of which he had been governor; the Society of Colonial Wars, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, Exchange Club, Home Market Club of which he had been vice-president and a director, and the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association in 1890.

In the Masonic Orders, he was associated with the Joseph Webb Lodge, the St. Paul's Chapters, Royal Arch Masons, and the Boston Commandery, Knights Templars. Mr. Hill had a summer residence at Swampscott and a farm at East Holliston.

In 1917, he married his second wife, Lillian J. Fisher of Brooklyn, N. Y., by whom he is survived, as well as by his two sons, Henry Horace Hill and Edward Marcy Hill.

Boston Transcript, August 28, 1923.

Henry B. Chandler

was killed at a railroad crossing at East Milton, September 29, 1923. He was born in Roxbury, Mass., April 4, 1846.

Mr. Chandler was a life member of this Association since 1890. He served on the Board of Government 1899, 1900, 1901; Committee of Relief 1896, 1897, 1898; Finance Committee in 1899, 1900, and trustee of the Charity Fund, 1900–1901.

For many years, he was employed in the roofing firm of C. S. Parker & Sons, but in 1907 entered in business with his son under the firm name of H. B. Chandler & Son, with offices at 9 Cambridge Street, Boston. Mr. Chandler had been retired from business for the last twelve years.

He is survived by his wife, son and a daughter.

J. Arthur Jacobs

a life member of the Association for forty-nine years died at his summer home at West Harwich, October 16, 1923, following an attack of pneumonia. He was seventy-five years old. Born in Boston, October 15, 1848, son of David H. and Elizabeth (Ayers) Jacobs.

Mr. Jacobs was an ardent worker for the Association. He was a member of the Committee of Relief in 1887, 1888, 1889; Board of Government, 1914, 1915, 1916 and served on the Finance Committee in 1916, Committee on Trade School in 1914, 1915 and a trustee of the Charity Fund from 1900 till the time of his death, October 16.

He was president and treasurer of David H. Jacobs & Son, Inc., contractors, which firm was established by his father following the Boston fire. He was associated with his father until the latter's death in 1888. Mr. Jacobs' association with the contracting business covers a period of more than fifty years, and among the early buildings which he had part in constructing was the present City Hall. The firm's Boston offices were at 77 Summer Street.

Mr. Jacobs was prominent in Masonry and belonged to St. John's Lodge, Boston Commandery and St. Andrew's Chapter. He was a trustee of Tufts College, vice-president of the Washingtonian Home, a member of the Board of Investments of the Franklin Savings Bank, and a member of the Master Builders Association.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Anna E. Dupee of Boston, and one son, Carlton D. Jacobs of Cambridge, and a sister, Mrs. Frederick A. Mendum, also of Cambridge.

Richard Gibson

senior partner of Richard Gibson & Son, widely known contractors and builders of Boston and for fifty-three years a resident of Medford, died

December 27, 1923 after a lingering illness, in the house at 89 Lawrence Street, Medford, where he had lived for forty-nine years.

Mr. Gibson was a native of Greenock, Scotland, and was born seventy-four years ago. He came to Medford as a young man and was a member of the first city council there. He was prominent in Masonic circles and was a member of Mt. Hermon Lodge, Mystic Chapter and Medford Council of Medford; Boston Commandery Knights Templars, and Aleppo Temple, Mystic Shrine. He was also a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Master Builders Association and the Scots' Charitable Society. He joined this Association in 1908.

He is survived by his widow and six children, James R. Gibson of Medford, who was associated with his father in business; Mrs. Frank H. Kingman of Medford; William Gibson of Saskatoon, Canada; Mrs. Joseph Byram of Reading; John Gibson of Winnipeg, Canada and Richard Gibson, Jr., of Lancaster, Ohio.

In 1721 Benjamin Franklin, then a boy of 14, left his master to whom he was apprenticed to learn the business of a tallow-chandler and entered the employ of the "New England Courant," a newspaper published in Boston, to learn the printing trade. He worked at a crude old wooden hand press for a number of years and became thoroughly skilled. For a century and a quarter this old original press was in comparative obscurity—for a period of years in Newport, R.I., and later in New York City. But on the occasion of this Association fostering the movement which caused a statue of Franklin to be placed in the Boston Public Gardens, Mr. Murray, the owner, was prompted to present the Association with the press.

In the letter of presentation, dated January 16, 1864, he says: "Coming back, as it now does, after the lapse of more than a hundred and thirty years, to the very place where Franklin worked upon it, it cannot fail to be regarded by your Association as one of the most precious relics which could have been committed to the guardianship of Massachusetts mechanics."
